

NIKE VISION

// MEN'S TRAINING //

Nike Vision has created a new line for high-intensity training and everyday wear outdoors. The five new sunglass models are dedicated to providing multi-sport athletes with eyewear that pushes the limits of performance.

The line launches with the Nike Terminus, Nike Traverse and the Nike Intersect. This summer, Nike Vision will release two additional innovative styles in the Nike Hyperforce and Nike Hyperforce Elite.

Developed with insights from Nike athletes and trainers, the Men's Training collection is designed to provide athletes with maximum coverage, personalized comfort and high action stability during dynamic movement for optimum performance. Lightweight and durable, the new line builds on the innovative designs from last year's Nike Running collection, bringing the latest advancements in technology and manufacturing to the Men's Training and Baseball categories. EDITOR'S STYLE NOTES

PETITE PROPORTIONS

No need to reach for the kids' collection! A growing variety of petite eyewear sizes are available to men and women with smaller or narrower faces. The styles combine flattering adult design details and features that offer a balanced and comfortable fit.

2. JF REY PETITE

Retro inspired model PA 032 for women combines two acetate materials. The colour register plays out a well balanced contrast with red touches where the front meets the temple. This line "celebrates small female faces, too often forgotten by eyewear designers", according to Jean-François Rey.

1. KLIK DENMARK

A collection specialising in stylish designs for smaller faces, model K-579 is constructed from stainless steel and showcases a fun camo print on the end pieces and temples. The semi-rimless design comes in Brown Demi, Raspberry Demi, Aqua Demi and Black Demi.

3. COLIBRIS

The German brand with a focus on smaller designs proposed a variety of acetate and metal designs, with attention paid to new trends as well as classic eyewear shapes. Model Stella is a simple round retro design with very narrow temples.
